WILL COMBAT BLUE LAWS

LEAGUE ORGANIZED IN NEW YORK TO FOSTER PERSONAL LIBERTY.

Work In Opposition to Efforts of Professional Reformers Who Seek Defeat of Gittins Bill At Albany Next Month Is Entered Upon.

New York, August 25.—In the interest of fairer and better government and for the purpose of fostering personal liberty a new league has been formed. It is known as the Farmers' and Merchants' Mutual Assistance League and is a direct outcome of the growing disposition to enact blue laws such as the Hart-Agnew measure, and its various amendments that have so effectually killed off the racing of thoroughbreds throughout the State of New York. Both merchants and farmers have come to a realization of what has been lost with the loss of racing, and the name has been aptly chosen for the league.

While the professional reformers have been busying themselves distributing colored literature urging the defeat of the Gittins bill at Albany next month, this league has been doing some work of its own in presenting to the people sound reasons why the law should prevail. A little brochure is being widely distributed setting forth reasons why the law should be passed, and each day there are many new names added to the league as a result. Judge Mirabeau L. Towns is quoted at length.

Mr. Towns remarked that Governor Dix was really elected by Republicans, and that these included thousands of small shopkeepers and others who are interested in racing, who are all in favor of the Gittins bill. Judge Towns said:

"The best proof of this is that Senator Agnew, the father of the Hart-Agnew bills, lost his own district by 8,000 votes, making his campaign on his anti-racing bill, so you see what his own people thought of it after they had a taste of it. The rest of the state feels the same way.

"Racing of itself is harmless and good. It induces people to keep in the open air and stimulates the breeding of fine horses. As people will bet in poolrooms, why not give them a chance to see the horses run? If racing is cut off entirely the wealthy sportsmen, who have fortunes involved, will seek some other country to race in."

Liberal quotations are made from various publications, and the harm that has been done by reason of no racing has been set forth clearly. For president the league has Jerome B. Rice, who is also president of the Cambridge Valley County Fair Association. Its vice-president is E. Rollins Morse of the Union Club, New York. George C. Reynard of 149 Broadway, New York, is secretary and treasurer, and M. S. Wilson of Saratoga is the assistant secretary and treasurer, with George F. Shevlin, also of Saratoga, the assistant treasurer.

ANACONDA OPENING IS AUSPICIOUS.

Representative Crowd of Fully Three Thousand Witnesses Decision of Inaugural Card.

Anacanda, Mont., August 25.—A representative crowd of fully 3,000, the largest attendance ever seen at the races here, was present at today's opening of the Anacanda Jockey Club's meeting. It was eloquent of the popularity which racing has attained in this section. Although the program offered was an ordinary one, the contests were interesting throughout. Two favorites and two well backed second choices were returned winners, enabling the public to break about even.

Ten books, a record for this track, drew in. Among the layers were Joe and George Rose, Fred Cook, B. McNutt, Gus Blum and E. G. Soule. They found speculation brisk, although not profitable to an appreciable extent.

Billy Meyer attracted extensive support in the last race, but was poorly ridden by jockey Buxton and finished among the also rans.

Selling race hostilities developed to a lively degree. W. S. Heath being the most active. He bid up Electric $200 and Delena $100. The run-up of Delena provoked W. B. Carson into bidding up Tommy Mcree, which carried at the barrier. The force of the collision was so terrific that it knocked Spellbound almost flat, while the Henderson & Hogan colt had his neck broken and was immediately destroyed. It was thought that Spellbound had received serious injury, but he walked back to the stable and showed no signs of lameness this morning.

ALAMITOS KILLED IN COLLISION AT WINDSOR.

Detroit, Mich., August 25.—M. C. Prichard's Spellbound, a candidate for the D. B. L. & W. Perry Handicap, to be run on the opening day of the Windsor autumn meeting, met with an accident at the track across the river Wednesday that may prevent him from starting in the stake on Monday. The big gelding was working for the race when he collided with Henderson & Hogan's Alamitos, which was being schooled at the barrier. The force of the collision was so terrific that it knocked Spellbound almost flat, while the Henderson & Hogan colt had his neck broken and was immediately destroyed. It was thought that Spellbound had received serious injury, but he walked back to the stable and showed no signs of lameness this morning.

First Aid, a two-year-old that M. C. Prichard has under lease from Barney Schreiber, has failed to run up to the promise of fast yearling trials and it has developed that he is suffering with an ailing knee. This colt worked an eighth in 11 seconds last year.

The horses of G. M. Odom and Lon Johnson are among the belated shipment to Windsor from Hamilton.

Rain fell at Windsor yesterday and was hailed by track superintendent Sam Farmer as just what was needed to put the course in extra good condition for Monday's opening.

NOTES OF THE TURF.

O'Connell, a good sprinter in his day, is still enjoying a life of ease at Harlem track, a pensioner on the bounty of John Coddon.

Jockey Small, who has been riding successfully on the Oklahoma circuit, probably will ride for R. D. Williams at Laurel and Havana.

Thomas Looman, for many years superintendent of the Hawthorne race track, died yesterday at his residence at the track. Death was caused by dropsy. Mr. Looman was fifty-nine years old.

Mose Goldblatt, a well known horseman whose life was despaired of a few months ago, has effected the complete cure of a case of tuberculosis by taking the outdoor treatment at his home near Cincinnati.

H. M. Mason has been appointed to take charge of the track at the new racing plant of the Coeur d'Alene Fair and Racing Association at Alan, Idaho. Recent arrivals there include William Hawke and A. Levy. The former brought Sir John and Gretchen G. from Vancouver.

THIRTY LEADING MONEY-WINNING OWNERS OF 1911

The men whose stables won the greatest sums last year are painfully far away from any chance of winning even half as much this year. The great stables, those of Hildreth, Belmont, Schorr, Wilson, Carman and Schreiber, have taken their full share of what there is to win this year, but in comparison with 1910 they make a sorry showing indeed, the prime factor being the elimination of the New York tracks from racing. Even if meetings near New York next fall should follow favorable action by the New York legislature on the Gittins bill it would be insufficient to remedy the mischief already done. However, if such relief should come it would be gratefully received, as betokening better things for next year. At present sixteen owners can boast of having won $10,000 or more, with Sam Hildreth far away in the lead. The thirty leaders and their stable accounts are now:

ONE OF ENGLAND'S GREATEST RACES.

Short Account of the Running of the Eclipse Stakes at Sandown Park, Near London.

Last year Sandown Park's famous $50,000 race, the Eclipse Stakes, resulted in a dead heat between Lemberg and Neil Gow at the end of a tremendous struggle, and the rich prize was divided, the owner of each horse receiving $21,025. There was no such exciting termination this year, for Swynford defeated Lemberg even more decisively than he had previously done in the Princess of Wales Stakes at the Newmarket First July meeting. Naturally, in the case of a race of such great value, there was prior to its running a record for exciting incidents and a following interesting history of its running appeared in London Sporting Life:

"When a race of the great value of 10,000 pounds was first projected, it was universally assumed that it would annually bring together most, if not all, of the equine cracks in training at the time of its decision.

"In the case of the Eclipse Stakes, the first and by far the most popular of the 'ten thousand pounders,' this assumption has been abundantly justified. The race has very rarely fallen to even a moderate performer, and its list of past winners includes many of the greatest of equine celebrities.

"Seven times, including Lemberg's dead heat last season, it has fallen to a Derby hero; the others having been Ayshire (1889), Isinglass (1894), Persimmon (1897), Flying Fox (1899), Diamond Jubilee (1900), and Ard Patrick (1903), and Derby winners like Cicero, Common and Ladass have run for it and failed. It has also been won by such exceptional animals as the brilliant Bendigo, the brilliant but wayward Surefoot, the French cracks, Le Justicier and Val d'Or, the gallant St. Frusquin, the eminently useful Velasquez, that remarkable gelding Epsom Lad, the mighty Bayardo, and the speedy and handsome Lally. The Eclipse Stakes has indeed made history during its short career, and no great race has a superior record for exciting incidents or the quality of the animals that have contested it.

"Unpleasant climatic conditions marred the brilliance of the first Eclipse Stakes on Friday, July 23, 1886, but the value of the race had attracted such widespread astonishment as to bring a great concourse to the beautiful Esher enclosure in spite of heavy and persistent rain. The meeting of Bendigo and St. Gatien, too, was a sporting attraction hardly to be excelled. Tom Cannon being seen on Mr. Barclay's famous black-brown six-year-old, and Charles Wood on the white-legged chestnut, St. Gatien, one of the recognized champions of his time. Bendigo was favorite, at 6 to 4. St. Gatien next best at 9 to 4, and they finished first and third, the three-year-old Candlemas intervening. Gay Hermit was fourth, Fra Diavolo fifth and Miss Jummy—that season's Oaks winner—next. Bendigo, whose only race it was that year, won easily, but it is likely enough that he was somewhat lucky to catch St. Gatien a little off color.

"There was no race in 1887, but it was revived in 1888, when the late Duke of Westminster supplied the winner and runner-up in Orbit and Ossory. T. Cannon, Sr., rode the winner, and T. Cannon, Jr., the second. The pick of the opposition were The Baron, second in the Derby and Grand Prix de Paris, Enterprise, winner of the Two Thousand, and Florentine, winner of the Middle Park Plate.

"In 1889 Ayshire, a Two Thousand and Derby hero, having previously won the Royal Stakes—worth $7,450—at Kempton Park, carried off the Eclipse by two lengths from El Dorado, with Seclusion third, and Seabreeze, Benburb and Gold unplaced. This son of Hampton and Atlanta, though he failed in the St. Leger through lack of stamina, was a very good horse, but he would have come off second best in the classics of his year had not the flying Friar's valiant, which beat him easily as a two-year-old, providentially for the Duke of Portland, suffered with serious teeth trouble.

"There was no Eclipse Stakes race in 1890, but Common's victory, he having just previously won the Two Thousand and Derby, was confidently expected in 1891. He finished a good third to Gouverneur, which had been second to him at Epsom, and Surefoot, the latter winning the huge stake in the hands of Liddard.

"Orme's dual victory (1892-93) was very popular, public sympathy having been aroused by the fact that the Kingsclere crack had been unable to take part in either the Two Thousand or Derby of his year. That Orme would have won both these great events in happier circumstances has always been the belief of the famous trainer in whose charge he was.

"The second meeting between Isinglass and Ladass, the Derby winners of 1893 and 1894, made the Eclipse Stakes in the latter year an event of particular interest. They met at twelve pounds for the year, and as in the Princess of Wales Plate at Newmarket a fortnight previously, the lion-hearted son of Isomony and old Deadlock asserted his superiority. The field was not up to the usual high standard in 1895, when Whittier, None the Wiser, Le Var, Solario and Troon were the best we could oppose to the crack French three-year-old Le Justicier, which accordingly won easily by three lengths.

"St. Frusquin, fresh from his defeat of Persimmon, had only the over-rated Regret, Troon and Labrador to beat in 1896, but his great rival Persimmon, had more formidable opposition, a twelve-month later, Velasquez, however, though he was no match for Galtée More in either the Two Thousand or the Derby, was a good, honest little horse, and it spoke volumes for Persimmon that he was beaten by the late King Edward's great horse without the semblance of an effort.

"Velasquez was himself victorious in 1898. He gave Batt, which had been second to the surprising Jeddah in the Derby, eighteen pounds for the year between them and beat him easily by three lengths, Goletta being third.

"Flying Fox in 1899 had nothing better than his own stable companion, the mediocre Frontier, to dispose of, and it is needless to say that Orme's wonderful son snuffed out his pretensions, and those of Ninus, Golden Bridge and Heir Male in double-quick time.

"Diamond Jubilee also was fortunate in having to run against some very poor competitors in 1900, and was himself beaten—into fourth place—a year later, Epsom Lad, Ian and Disguise were then the leading trio, and the Spanish-American jockey, Gomez, when his saddle slipped at a critical part of the race, gave a remarkable exhibition of skill, resource and presence of mind. That was a fast run for the Eclipse Stakes, the time for the mile and a quarter being 2:08½.

"Cheers, a pretty good horse that day, starting at 20 to 1, won the race in 1902, defeating Rising Glass, Royal Lancer and Fowling-piece in that order, and then came Ard Patrick's memorable battle with Sceptre in 1903. On the theory of 'latest being best,' Rock Sand, a better favorite, but a good horse as was that son of the 1890 Derby winner, he was no match for such equine genius 'of purest ray serene' as Ard Patrick and the flying Sceptre.

"Darley Dale, which won the Eclipse Stakes of 1904, was a very poor specimen compared with his predecessors. Nevertheless, credit must be given to him for his best defeat of Rydal Head, Henry the First and others at Sandown. Cicero, a better-class Derby winner than he is generally considered, only failed by half a length to give three pounds to the brilliant Frenchman, Val d'Or, in 1905, and Llan-gibby, which himself won the mammoth stake in 1906, was then third to them. Lally, a very good sort at his best, though he had failed lamentably in Spearmin's Derby, was good enough to win the Eclipse of 1907, defeating Sancy, Bezonian, St. Martin, Gingal and others, and J. B. Joel's colt, Your Majesty, preceded his St. Leger victory by winning this event in very conclusive fashion.

"Bayardo set the seal on his fame in the Eclipse Stakes two years ago, and the thrifty head of Lemberg and Neil Gow, which ended in a dead heat, was, of course, one of the sensational features of last year's turf campaign. The Manton crack handicapped himself to some extent by hanging away from the crowd, and, as on one or two other occasions, it is doubtful if he, in the vernacular, put it all in. In this year's Eclipse he will have another opportunity afforded him, but that he has the magnificent Swynford again up against him is tantamount to saying that we are in for another very interesting race."

KING'S PLATERS AT WORK AT MONTREAL.

Montreal, Que., August 25.—One of the best trials of the King's Plate candidates at Blue Bonnets so far went to the credit of St. Laurent, from the stable of Andrew Shearer. This colt showed plenty of speed, having more than his weight up and worked smartly in 1:23½. Sans Droit and Larente, the two Platers owned by C. S. Campbell, were schooled at the barrier and given a useful gallop. The two-year-old Lord Ladass, owned by D. Raymond, was schooled at the barrier and then worked a quarter of a mile. Republican, in the stable of John Hyland, is doing well.

Trainer Matt Feakes gave the horses owned by Mrs. L. A. Livingston useful work. Lovette is improving each day. Mr. Feakes says that his horses never did better than since coming to Montreal.

G. R. Tompkins worked his string of jumpers on the flat. The work of Jimmy Lane was impressive. Bigot has shown some good work over the jumps. Trainer Bulcroft has a couple of first-class Star Shoot two-year-olds owned by N. MacFarlane, which are being sent along with regularity. Sunlike is the better of the two.

ALL OF THE HILDRETH STARS TO GO.

New York, August 25.—The sale of S. C. Hildreth's entire stable of twenty-three horses in training, which has been announced to take place at Sheepshead Bay Sept. 7, will be conducted under the management of the Powers-Hunter company, which has been incorporated by W. L. Powers and W. S. Hunter, formerly of the Fasig-Tipton company, to continue the business of selling thoroughbred horses by public auction at their paddocks at Sheepshead Bay, on the various race courses of New York and elsewhere, and at Lexington, Ky. The Hildreth horses to be sold include Fitz Herbert, Novelty, King James, Firestone, Zeus and other racers that have carried the blue and white of America's leading stable with distinction.

KENTUCKY TRAINERS ACTIVE

SHARP WORK AT LOUISVILLE TRACKS IN PREPARATION FOR RACING.

Hallenbeck Stable to Leave Saratoga for Churchill

Downs September 10—C. P. Lamar Coming from

British Columbia—Horses for Hawthorne.

Louisville, Ky., August 25.—Many horses are working sharply at Churchill Downs and Douglas Park. With the opening of fall racing at Lexington less than three weeks away, horsemen realize that they have no time to spare in getting their charges in racing condition.

The fastest work at Churchill Downs yesterday was by Round the World, which fleet filly was sent six furlongs in 1:18½, in hand all the way. She appeared to have all her speed and could apparently have run fast had her rider set her down.

L. P. Doerhoefer's good mare, Mary Davis, worked five furlongs, pulled up, in 1:04½, and that Louisville turfman's smart two-year-old colt, Tommie Thompson, did three furlongs in 37½.

The Kentucky Endurance Stakes candidate, Royal Report, was worked a mile and an eighth by trainer George Land and he pulled up the distance in 2:03, running the first mile in 1:49. The son of Requit is training nicely for the big race, and he will be a starter in the two and a quarter-mile Autumn Cup races during the Lexington meeting. Other good moves at the Downs included the following:

Coletta—Mile in 1:49.
Emily Lee—Five-eighths in 1:05.
Eye White—Three-eighths in 38, cantering.
Helen Scott—Three-eighths in 39.
Jim Gaffney—Quarter mile in 26, pulled up.
John Griffin II—Quarter mile in 25.
Keep Moving—Half mile in 54½, cantering.
King Olympian—Three-eighths in 40.
Lackrose—Half mile in 53, easily.
Oakland—Quarter mile in 26, easily.
Parkview—Half mile in 56, pulling up.
Pinkola—Quarter mile in 25½, hard held.
Quartermaster—Half mile in 54½, pulling up.
The Hagaze—Half mile in 53½, handily.
Turret—Quarter mile in 25½, cantering.
Yankee—Three-eighths in 37½, in hand.
Zenap—Mile in 1:55.

John Masterson, who has charge of getting together the horses to be shipped from here for the Labor Day race meeting at Hawthorne, Chicago, has gone to Latonia, where he expects to secure some horses. He will also arrange, if possible, with Tom Brown to act as secretary and starter during the coming meeting.

The horses that will go from Churchill Downs and Douglas Park to race at Chicago are: G. L. Doyle, Spaulding, Emily Lee, Amoret, Helen Scott, John Griffin II, Lord Dixon, Tim Judge, Son, Tom Big-gee, Marzo, Helen Burnett, Gertrude Hill, Sarah Chenault, Gallant Pirate and Inclement. All of them will be returned to the local tracks as soon as the Chicago racing is over.

Acting Secretary Edward Jasper has received a letter from trainer Frank Taylor stating he would ship the stable of H. C. Hallenbeck to Churchill Downs from Saratoga September 10, and would require fourteen stalls for the string. Among the horses trainer Taylor will bring with him to the Downs next month are: Fauntleroy, Sir Marion, Herkimer, Stinger, Adams Express, Miss Minnie, Recompense, Prince Gal, Housenoid, Worth and Judge Walser. Mr. Hallenbeck has expended over $10,000 in strengthening his stable in the last few weeks.

Trainer John Lowe has had to have the firing irons applied to the tendon of one of Marian Casey's forelegs, and the daughter of Star Ruby will be out of racing for the coming fall, though her trainer hopes to have her ready for the early part of the winter meeting at Juarez. J. H. Mead, who owns Marian Casey, John Louis, Chapultepec and other horses, reached the local tracks after a rest of a few weeks at Atlantic City. Trainer Lowe has all of the Meads at Douglas Park, except John Louis, which is in Canada in charge of trainer Miller Henderson. He intends to have that son of Ben Bramble shipped here in a few days to be prepared for the four-mile Kentucky Endurance Stakes. The gelding has always shown a liking for a considerable distance of ground.

An order came to Acting Secretary Jasper for four stalls for the racing string of C. P. Lamar, who is shipping here from Vancouver. B. C. Lamar has Mollo, Thistle Belle and other useful racers in his stable.

O. A. Bianchi went to Latonia to see about shipping the string of horses which trainer S. Judge has in charge there to Churchill Downs at an early date. Some of the horses in this string are owned by James McManus, and others in the barn are owned by the latter and Mr. Bianchi in partnership. Trainer Judge has eleven horses in his care, including the crack two-year-old Presumption, and such other good performers as Rocky O'Brien, Rossare, George Oxnard, Golden Agnes, Tay Pay, Doncaster and Star O'Rean at the Downs. Mr. Bianchi brought from Sacramento with his stable now at the Downs twenty-nine bales of what is known as California hay. The shipment made such a bulk as to virtually require an entire car. The western turfman wants it especially for feed for his yearlings and weanlings.

Wayne Joplin is in doubt about being able to train and race Golden Pearl and Little Dutch before winter, and both horses are still at the farm near Elizabethtown. Trainer Enright will make no effort to take them up until October, and it may be that so effort will be made to train them until spring. They broke down during the recent summer meeting at Latonia.

W. G. Yanke and Col. W. E. Applegate have fourteen horses in the long barn adjoining the betting ring at Churchill Downs, and are at present the only occupants of that big stable, and it is also the only string of horses quartered at present on the grandstand side of the track.

MUSKOGEE MEETING TO END TODAY.

Muskogee, Okla., August 25.—A good crowd was at the track today, it being ladies' day. Jockey E. Smith carried off the riding honors by piloting two winners. The talent fared badly, as only two favorites scored. Belle of the Bay had no trouble in winning the feature race. She went to the front at the start and never left the result in doubt. Tomorrow will be the closing day.

ELECTIONEER CRUSHES AN ATTENDANT.

Lexington, Ky., August 25.—In rearing while being saddled for a gallop at the Kentucky Association course this morning, Electioneer struck James McCauley in the breast, prostrated him and then came down upon him with his knees, badly crushing the man. McCauley was taken to St. Joseph's hospital.
